

Car

A lot of people take the car to Calpe, it's approximately a little less than 2 days travel time starting from Dover-Calais. From that point on it's almost 1.100 miles (1.750 km) or about 1.000 miles taking the shorter route. Spending the night in France (Toulouse region for instance) shouldn't pose much of a problem, since a lot of hotels (in all price categories) are available along the (beautiful) route.

Coach

Especially people who plan to stay for winter, go by luxury coach. In about one day (and night) they will reach their destination in Calpe. Most visitors from the UK use car or plane.

Plane

Of course, the plane nowadays is a good alternative to the rather long journey by road. Alicante is the preferred airport in the region, but Murcia and Valencia are also possibilities. Please take into account the fact that the distance from Alicante to Calpe is rather easy to cover by public transportation, but for the other two airports we recommend renting a car (maybe just pick it up at the airport for half a day and just drop it in Calpe). Alternatively we can also arrange transfer from and to the airport, so please just ask for it when booking your apartment.

- www.victoriacars.com/spain_car_hire/car_hire_calpe.html

There are several airlines that cover the Costa Blanca region in their flight schedules. Please use the link below and, if possible, select a region for your departure (instead of one particular city). Once you have found your flight please take another minute to check the site from the airline itself, since in most cases this might even be a little more profitable.

- www.wegolo.com/